Biosphere Reserves are places, designated by UNESCO: to find creative, effective ways for people and nature to thrive together.

The functions of a Biosphere Reserve are:

Conservation: promoting the protection of landscapes, habitats, wildlife and cultural values

Learning: supporting education and research, for a better understanding of nature and global issues

Development: fostering a sustainable economy and society for people living and working in the area

Welcome & Reception

Initial Sketch Visual - Potential Feature Walls

AV Theatre

This short audio-visual presentation will give a broad overview of the Dublin Bay Biosphere, providing an impressionistic glimpse into its natural biodiversity and human uses.

The Nest

This circular space hosts a fully immersive, audio-visual, interactive 'game of consequences' in which a small group of around 10-15 visitors at a time must collaborate.

The Hide

Located alongside the large windows looking out over the adjacent mudflats, this is a quiet space focused on observation and "learning by seeing".
