

The National Vegetable Society

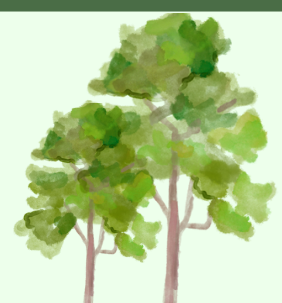

Information

Branches

The Society covers all of England, Scotland, Wales, and the whole of Ireland. There are five regional branches, and many counties have District associations (D.A.'s) which hold monthly meetings, talks and events.

Joining

Join the National Vegetable Society (NVS) and improve your vegetable growing. Whether you are new to vegetable growing, a keen grower, exhibitor, or giant vegetable grower there is something in the NVS for you.

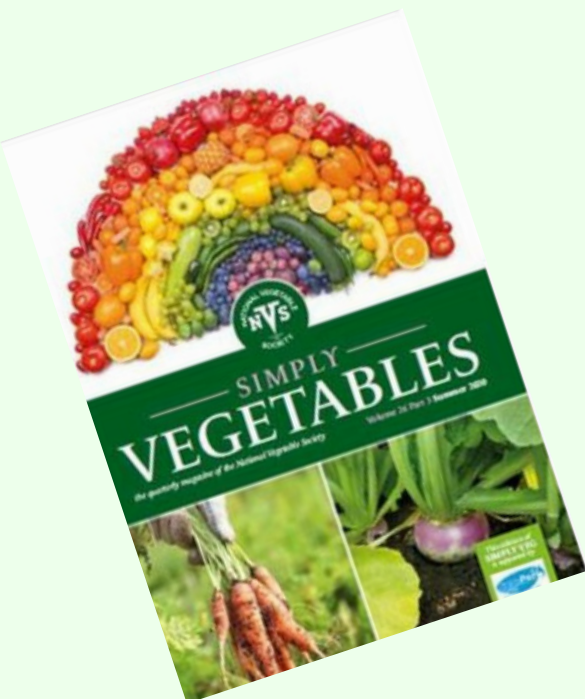

Join us

Whether you have a small patio garden or half an acre you can produce your own vegetables and learn how to get the best from your ground with the NVS. To join us, please visit our web site where you will find details of what we can offer you and give you the facility to join as a member.

Subscription

Annual Subscriptions are available for various categories, from individuals through to Societies, which includes allotments and gardening Clubs. On joining you will receive a 68-page high quality magazine quarterly, have access to the NVS websites members pages full of useful information on growing vegetables, access to a members group on Facebook, and be able to attend talks/events and meet like-minded fellow growers.
