

Longitudinal and Life Course Studies (LLCS)

Volume 15 (2024): Issue 1 (Jan 2024)

EDITORIAL

What future are we creating?

Author: Tony Robertson

Pages: 2–4

COMMENTARY

Studying social change in human lives: a conversation

Authors: Richard A. Settersten Jr, Dale Dannefer, Glen H. Elder Jr, Jeylan T. Mortimer, and Jessica A. Kelley

Pages: 5–18

REPLY

The SLLS in uncertain times: an opportunity to develop an impactful and responsive society.

A reply to 'Studying social change in human lives: a conversation' by Richard Settersten et al

Authors: Dario Spini and Susan Morton

Pages: 19–24

RESEARCH ARTICLES

The 'lifeworld' of health and disease and the design of public health interventions

Authors: Federica Russo and Michael P. Kelly

Pages: 25–44

Explaining disparities in cognitive functioning: a test of competing hypotheses

Author: Hui-Peng Liew

Pages: 45–68

Age at arrival and integration outcomes of refugee youth and emerging adults: a longitudinal study

Authors: Cho Yat Wong and Ben Edwards

Pages: 69–88

Impact of New Zealand teenagers' fertility intentions on childbearing

Authors: Judith L. Sligo, Bryndl E. Hohmann-Marriott, Helena M. McAnally, and Robert J. Hancox

Pages: 89–108

Education, health indicators and fertility outcomes: a longitudinal analysis of couples in Britain

Author: Nitzan Peri-Rotem

Pages: 109–132

REVIEWER ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

Pages: 133